Class Descriptions

Each class is $45 per class. For Homeschool Group Special Pricing contact us directly.

Visual Arts - In this workshop, students will be developing their imaginative thinking skills through fine motors skills. By drawing, painting, building, and basic textiles, students will be using the visual arts to interpret music, literature, and theatre.

Adult Theatre- In the is workshop, we will have the opportunity to work on character development, movement, and make strong character choices.

Jewelry Making-Participants in this program develop fine motor skills, critical thinking, and communication skills while working in a collaborative environment. Students will learn the basics of jewelry making and create pieces for themselves and others. Each student will be given the opportunity to design, craft, and create wearable works of art.

Photography- Participants will learn how to take better pictures, arrange subjects, and find the best lighting for each subject. Participants will engage in still life photography, initially focusing on inanimate objects, and the goal of gradually building up to photographing people.

Imaginary Creatures-Let your imagination run wild! It's time to have fun making art inspired by animals, dreams and imagination. Students will work with a wide variety of art supplies and materials to create unique two and three-dimensional artwork. Adult students, with a wide range of abilities, are encouraged to engage in the creative process. Some students may choose to bring an empowering partner (support staff) if communication, upper body mobility and/or dexterity is limited. This program is tailored to the individual needs and goals of each student. Students are encouraged to discover and explore their unique perspective of the world through creating collage. Attendees of this workshop will be encouraged to make independent choices to explore and interpret personal experiences. Students will be encouraged to explore their own creativity with the help of tools, processes, feedback and personalized assistance. We will promote a respectful classroom environment to encourage a positive and safe environment. This class will be held in a group setting.

Improvisational Theatre- In the style of comedy sports and Who's Line is it Anyway?, participants learn short form improvisational theatre games, develop an ensemble, and perform for an audience.

Theatre Workshop for All- Experience theatre by learning basic skills and gain confidence through a variety of Theatre Games. The end result will be a culminating experience to be performed in the local community.

Circuit Bending- Explore the insides ("guts") of used electronic toys to discover what makes them beep, bloop, and bop. Seek ways to change their behavior by altering the circuits. Finally, make permanent modifications by adding switches and buttons. Help is available for any necessary soldering & drilling.

Puppetry CAWi Puppetry integrates individuals with cognitive, developmental, emotional, behavioral and physical disabilities in arts programming designed to develop social and communication skills vital to success in school, work and life through puppetry. In our program, local professional artists lead participants through the elements creation, physicalization, and film production activities that nurture self-expression, conversation, and group participation. And also, it's hilarious.

Elements of Collage/Mixed Media Students will work with a dynamic assortment of materials to create unique two and three-dimensional collages. Adult students, with a wide range of abilities, are encouraged to engage in the creative process. Some students may choose to bring an empowering partner (support staff) if communication, upper body mobility and/or dexterity is limited. This program is tailored to the individual needs and goals of each student. Students are encouraged to discover and explore their unique perspective of the world through creating collage. Attendees of this workshop will be encouraged to make independent choices to explore and interpret personal experiences. Students are encouraged to discover and explore and interpret personal thoughts and experiences through creating collage. This class will be held in a group setting.

Painting- Explore with acrylics and watercolors in this process-focused class. You'll have the space and freedom to create original and imaginative work in this active form of painting that encourages self-expression with large and small strokes, pointillism, and large swaths of color. We will use specific color palettes to create unique works and use multiple transfer methods including brushwork, rollers, and print-making. Come experience the healing power of paint in this transformative class!

Painting with Music- Immerse yourself with music! Find the connection between the visual arts and music. Paint with emotion and hone in your active listening skills.

Playwriting Roundtable- In this class, we will explore a unique art form where participants will create an original play using a collaborative approach. This is an experimental new way of approaching both writing and scene study where we will explore multiple avenues of discovering a single narrative through group storytelling. The end result will culminate in a staged reading of the work in process.
